HOG FARMERS SEE MARKET GO ROCKETING

Spectacular Market Fol- lows Court Decision on Defunct AAA

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Hog farmers, alarmed by the prospect of a price increase, today witnessed one of the most spectacular market price rises within the memory of veteran livestock men.

The big Chicago market was completely disrupted. Trading for a time was virtually at a standstill. Some commission agencies, in the meantime, demanded that the fee $12.50 per hundredweight, previously paid by the court, be added to the market price.

In the confusion a few sales were put through at 50 to 60 cents higher than Monday. The early top soared to $10.25, representing a rise of 70 cents per hundredweight since the court's decision.

Other livestock markets reflected the sharp advance.

RAILWAYS FREIGHT RATES DEBATED BY HEARST OF C.P.R.

Tells Hamilton Meeting
Responsibility for Fixing Rates Remained That of Railway Companies.

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 7.—Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, last night declared a joint dinner given by the Alberta and the Canadian Club and the Chamber of Commerce, dealing principally with freight rates and their relation to the Board of Railway Commissioners and to Canadian business generally.

Under the Canadian Railway Act, he said, power was given the board to prevent railways from charging freight rates except in accordance with the act, and the responsibility for fixing freight rates remained that of the railway companies. Sir Edward said he was in no way questioning either the authority or competence of the board or its staff.

VALUE OF BOARD

While opposed in general to governmental interference in business, he fully believed in the necessity and value of the board and had no objection to its power to regulate its members and the technical skill and competence of the board.

Public utilities, he said, had the privilege of conducting business in public utilities affecting the life of all the nation, and in a democratic country they must be controlled by public authority.

"It is strictly true," said Sir Edward, "that railway freight rates are fixed on the basis of what the traffic will bear, and not on the basis of the cost of the railroads."

He said, however, that "as railway companies are not to be controlled by public authority, they must be controlled by public authority."

WOTE ANSWER TO OPPOSITION WHEAT Gardiner Delighted — Irvin Thinks Tories Voted Liberal

ESTEVAN, Sask., Jan. 7.—Hailing the result of the Assiniboia by-election as a decisive answer to those who raised the issue of wheat marketing policies Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, issued a statement last night.

"I am delighted with the result," he said. "I was pleased to know that I had been invited from the Liberal party to contest the constituency and I appreciated the fact that the Conservative association in the constituency extended a welcome to me before nomination day."

"It is much more satisfactory to have taken the vote and thus shown that the constituency as a whole desires the policies of the present government to have a fair trial. I wish to thank the members of the constituency for whatever political faith who co-operated in the election."

"The general distribution of the market for all sections of the constituency is a rather delicate answer to those who raised an issue of wheat marketing and other farm products. I am pleased to hear that the wheat market is doing well and that the price of wheat is high."

"I think the same mandate could have been obtained in most constituencies in Saskatchewan. The wheat market is doing well and the price of wheat is high."

Men Would Provide Own Upkeep Out of 25 Cents An Hour Rate

Payment of single homeless men in the government work camps at the rate of 25 cents an hour or $1.50 a day, and allowing them to find their own food, clothing and shelter, instead of providing upkeep and paying them 25 cents a day, was urged by Premier William Abernethy at Monday at a conference between the relief committee which is making a study of the problem.

"We take the position that these young men would feel much better and more satisfied if they realized that they were responsible for their own upkeep," he said.

Young Actors Learn Arts Of The Theatre

Possibilities offered by the local theatre, leading to the rosiest dreams of a stage career, may have been sending shivers of excitement down the spines of a group of young actors, and for all who are interested, a school of stagecraft is now open to the most timid of would-be actors can learn the elements of the art from the experienced hands of the most famous of the theatre.

Elizabeth Sterling Haynes commenced a course in arts presented to the theatre under the Extension Department of the University of Alberta and the Edmonton Little Theatre in the Bank of Commerce building, on Monday evening.

There was a large crowd on to hear the initial discussion on the "art of motion picture," which led into a carefully planned talk on several of the primary rules of acting and stagecraft.

Of the four classes of the "art of motion picture," the first "motion picture"—that is, the director, who writes, directs, and means briefly to present, in a series of motion picture charges to and from the stage. Thus the director is merely glancing at the grouping, may determine what relation various actors bear to one another at any specific point in the story.

"Motion picture" is a form of expression using the body as an aid in interpretation, through the medium of facial expression and body line.

TWO-TONE VOICE
"Motion picture" does not mean John Barrymore, whose range is two extremes, but two notes to which every actor must learn to regulate and control of pitch, volume and volume of voice to be audaciously convincing.

The last division, "Motion picture," is an abstract concept, the best of which is the simple illustration that "it is not the actor in Niagara Falls that makes them think but the position of the water." An actor is perhaps the "only actor who plays on his own instrument," but he must realize the significance or insignificance of his particular part in the whole symphony—the background of successful motion picture competition but co-operation!

Enthusiasm in all the branches of motion picture, stage, and screen, can be accommodated in the theatre which is to be devoted to the study and discussion of the motion picture, and the remainder to practical application. Mimeographed reports of the lectures will be available for the motion picture people or those who are interested in motion picture, and just such baffling little problems as make up, where to read to costumes, where to read to costumes, and what plays can be successfully adapted to the stage will be discussed in the preface to the copy. Registration for the classes of which the first will be held in room 203 in the Bank of Commerce building commencing at eight o'clock on Monday evening of next week, was conducted at the meeting.

Mr. William J. Dick, president of the club, presided at the meeting, and Mr. Thomas Satchell introduced the speaker and briefly outlined the object and nature of the lectures.

Takes Pen In Press Club

OTTAWA, Jan. 7.—Lady Tweedsmuir, wife of the Governor General, has accepted honorary membership in the Canadian Press Club. It was announced here last night by Isabel C. Armstrong, national president. Her Excellency applies for active membership also, said Miss Armstrong, and has requested the necessary approval from which she will complete. Lady Tweedsmuir is an author and a playwright, her name being borne "Susan Buchanan."

Pierrot and Pierrette have chosen an icy career for their graceful amours... for they will certainly have a hard time in the Edmonton Carnival to be held at the Arena in February. In costume, other favorite dances will be presented, as suggested by the members of the Edmonton Skating Club, whose fame extends wide and will be seen in numerous clever solo numbers, and ensembles.

An ice carnival is not only one of the highlights of the winter season, but just one reason why northerners recognize themselves to enter all sorts of after-ice skating and other sports are something to boast about in the warm months.

Mr. John Johnson, club professional, will be in charge of the skating, and several of the outstanding club skaters will appear in the ice shows.

Mr. James Brown is heading the committee for the ice carnival, and Mr. Robert Driscoll and Mr. Noel Spittal are on the committee.

On the women's committee are Mrs. William Griesbach, Mrs. E. G. Smart, and Mrs. Maurice Burdige.

Ice Carnival Will Be Event Of Midwinter

Pierrot and Pierrette have chosen an icy career for their graceful amours... for they will certainly have a hard time in the Edmonton Carnival to be held at the Arena in February. In costume, other favorite dances will be presented, as suggested by the members of the Edmonton Skating Club, whose fame extends wide and will be seen in numerous clever solo numbers, and ensembles.

An ice carnival is not only one of the highlights of the winter season, but just one reason why northerners recognize themselves to enter all sorts of after-ice skating and other sports are something to boast about in the warm months.

Mr. John Johnson, club professional, will be in charge of the skating, and several of the outstanding club skaters will appear in the ice shows.

Mr. James Brown is heading the committee for the ice carnival, and Mr. Robert Driscoll and Mr. Noel Spittal are on the committee.

On the women's committee are Mrs. William Griesbach, Mrs. E. G. Smart, and Mrs. Maurice Burdige.

Campbell Fraser Says Financial Position is Best Yet

While plans are being pushed forward toward instituting a series of Sunday evening broadcasts in this city, similar to the one being broadcast by the Institute in Calgary, nothing definite has been done, according to Campbell Fraser, president of the Kiwanis Children's Aid committee, who stated that there is to be some overlapping.

He has not yet decided upon a place to hold his meetings, nor the extent to which they will be transmitted to the public.

SUNDAY RADIO SERIES AIM OF PREMIER HERE

TRADES, LABOR MEETING ENDS WITH UPROAR

ruling that the committee be sustained in its recommendation. When the vote was taken, however, the report was approved and Mr. Laker, secretary-treasurer, was elected delegate to the council.

Speaking to his motion, which he said was designed to bring about a revision of the trade and labor council, Delegate Findlay claimed that the committee had no right to make a financial report for the first regular meeting of the council in January and July. This had not been done before.

Again, the secretary-treasurer was required to be heard to the extent of $300, continued Mr. Findlay.

BOARD FAILS

Continuing, the delegate said the board of trustees had failed to present four reports during the year on the council's financial standing. All officers, he believed, should carry out their duties voluntarily and the officers themselves should not be an unpaid one, with all the officers continuing in undertaking the duties of their office.

In conclusion, he mentioned the fact that the council was in arrears with its rent and proposed that the council be set up to make an audit of the house and the organization's financial status as soon as possible.

MEMO REPEATED

As Mr. Findlay took his seat, President Berge to the defense of the officers, himself and Mr. Findlay particularly. The financial report had not been submitted to the board's meeting, the first in the year, because of pressure of other business, which included preparations for the convention of the Alberta Federation of Labor.

Mr. Findlay was not to be troubled by the matter, Mr. Berge said. "When I came to this meeting today it was to tell that group that I was not a quitter," he said. "I am a fighter."

NOT ATTACKED

Mr. Findlay, however, to explain he was not attacking the president, but was attacking the condition of affairs which had existed for a long period.

Claiming that an attempt was made to sow seeds of discord in the council, Mr. Berge declared, "I'm not a quitter. I'm a fighter."

EXPLAINING HIS

Explaining his own situation, Secretary Findlay said that the past year had been a very difficult one for him. He himself was overworked and his health was suffering. He had not always done his full duty, due to failing finances, continued Mr. Findlay, one of the reasons for failing revenue were the failure of the business group associated with the council to pay per capita taxes.

HELD RESPONSIBLE

Delegate Findlay declared that he had gone to a solicitor in connection with the council's financial position and had been told that he was responsible for any financial loss.

He was berated on this point by President Berge, who contended that the delegate had failed to hold the matter before officers of the council before he had taken any action.

BOARD LIMITED

The limited number on this board made it impossible to include others who were well-fitted for the position, continued Mr. Findlay, adding that he would have liked to have had a larger board.

Mr. A. R. E. Foose agreed with him.
